

The waiting waiter wanted to see the data operator for a naughty regulator

But she was editing data for a cheating gladiator.

The waiting waiter took a bottle of water to the lady at the counter,

But a greedy little poodle started barking when he found her and surprised the waiting waiter

Then the pitter patter of a spatter made all the waiters start to chatter,

For the waiting waiter slipped upon some butter and a glop of pancake batter.

"What's the matter?" cried the gladiator, shouting from the ladder,

"Your total lack of data only makes the matter sadder, and the boss madder!"

The latter is what matters!

And the cheating gladiator got to hooting and tiddering and pointing at the waiting waiter that had slipped upon the batter

So the waiting waiter only got to shoot the data operator a cutting indicator of a hurting 'see you later'

The waiting waiter took his scooter on an outing to the border before the matter could get any sadder

And at a quarter to the border bought a sweater for his daughter and a platter side of onion and a cider.

Now later sitting by the water eating a potato salad platter and another harder cider, thinks,

No more waiting, no more dating, no more slipping spitter spatter, butter and pancake batter...

and no more hooting and tiddering pointing cheating gladiators!

Just sitting by the water sipping cider with a sweater for his daughter

